

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

This is a problem! What have you been doing about it?

Learning Outcome

Describe complicated or unusual events in the past through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What are some problems you commonly face at work?
- How do you usually solve these problems?
- What problems are difficult to solve? Why?

Can Do Statements

- I can offer advice and solutions about jobs and work.
- I can talk about causes and effects.
- I can talk about things I have done or have been doing.

Let's Explore!

Sally reads a brochure for a journalism program at Western College.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Sally: I really want to help Angela more. What do you think I should do?

Peter: Angela should take courses in journalism, right? You could find some information about a local journalism program to give to her.

Sally: That's a great idea. Look at this. Western College has had a program in journalism for two years now.

Peter: You should tell her about the program.

Sally: Here's what it says:

The ability to tell compelling stories has always been the backbone of journalism. At Western College, we have been working hard to create a program that surpasses your expectations. Our graduates have told us again and again how much they love this program. You can choose one area to concentrate on. You could focus on the area that interests you the most: print, broadcast or radio journalism, or technical studies. If you choose print journalism, you'll learn the skills necessary to get to the heart of every story you write. If you opt for broadcast journalism, you'll develop the confidence to shine in front of the camera. If you select radio journalism, you'll develop the abilities needed to communicate with your audience only using your voice. If you want to explore the technical side of journalism, you'll develop the skills to operate cameras and edit footage.

Let's Practice!

If* you wanted to be a journalist, which branch of journalism would you opt for?

* The "if" clause (condition) can also go after the main clause (the result). In this case, there is no comma.

 To "opt for" means to select or to choose.

Instructions: Match the two parts of the sentences from Column A to Column B.

COLUMN A

COLUMN B

1. If you choose print journalism,
2. If you opt for broadcast journalism,
3. If you select radio journalism,
4. If you want to explore the technical side of journalism,

- a. you'll develop the skills to operate cameras and edit footage.
- b. you'll learn the skills necessary to get to the heart of every story you write.
- c. you'll develop the abilities needed to communicate with your audience only using your voice.
- d. you'll develop the confidence to shine in front of the camera.

Let's Practice!

Sally reads about the program in journalism.

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Cross out the incorrect word. Write the sentences correctly.

1) Western College have has a program in journalism for two years now.

2) The ability to tell compelling stories has always be the backbone of journalism.

3) At Western College, we have be work hard to create a program that surpasses your expectations.

4) Our graduates has tell us again and again how much they love this program.

Extension Activity

Write a dialogue talking to your boss about a problem at work and explaining what you have been doing to solve the problem.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Choose an area of work.
- Imagine you are talking to your boss. There is a problem. Explain the problem to your boss.
- Explain what you have been doing to solve the problem. Use the Present Perfect Continuous tense.
- Your boss offers advice and suggests solutions.
- Practice your dialogue with a partner.
- Change roles.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I explain a problem at work.

☐ ☐

I explain what I have been doing to solve the problem.

☐ ☐

I offer advice and suggest solutions.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- backbone (noun): the most important part e.g. The ability to tell compelling stories has always been the backbone of journalism.
- expectation (noun): something that you think is going to happen or to be like e.g. At Western College, we have been working hard to create a program that surpasses your expectations.
- to shine (verb): to do very well in something e.g. You'll develop the confidence to shine in front of the camera.
- footage (noun): scenes that have been filmed for TV or movies before they have been edited e.g. If you want to explore the technical side of journalism, you'll develop the skills to operate cameras and edit footage.
- broadcast (adjective): relating to television
e.g. If you opt for broadcast journalism, you'll shine in front of the camera.

Learning Points

How to Deal with Problems + Offering Advice and Solutions

A common expression asking for help with a problem is: "What do you think I should do?"

When you want to offer advice or give solutions to a problem, you use modals like should or could.

Examples:

- What do you think I should do?
- Angela should take courses in journalism.
- You could find some information about a local journalism program.
- You should tell Angela Weston about the program.

Learning Points

Present Perfect Continuous vs. Present Perfect Tenses

You use these tenses to express that an action began in the past and is still going on or has just finished.

We use the Present Perfect tense mainly to express that an action is completed or to emphasize the result.

Forms:

Regular verbs: form of 'have' + base form of verb + ed

Example:

I have worked at the bakery for six years.

Irregular verbs: form of 'have' + past participle of irregular verbs

Example:

I have written a number of books in the last two years.

We use the Present Perfect Continuous tense to emphasize the duration or continuous course of an action.

Form:

Form of 'have' + been + base form of verb + ing

Example:

We have been walking for two hours!

Examples:

- At Western College, we have been working hard to create a program that meets and surpasses your expectations.
- Our graduates have told us over and over again how much they love this program.

