

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Don't jump to any decisions!

Learning Outcome

Describe complicated or unusual events in the past through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Are you more like an extrovert (you like talking to people) or an introvert (you don't like talking to people)?
- Is it better to be an extrovert or an introvert? Why?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about behavior and personality in the workplace.
- I can talk about things I have done or have been doing.
- I can discuss how to deal with problems.

Let's Explore!

Angela wants to be a journalist. But wait! Her mother thinks she's an introvert!

* The opposite of "introvert" is extrovert, someone who likes talking to a lot of people.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Angela: Look mom! I'm going to be a journalist!
- Angela's mom: What?
- Angela: Well, it's not 100% sure yet, but it looks promising! You know I've been wanting to be a journalist for ages!
- Angela's mom: Well, you've also talked a lot about being a scientist as well. I would keep my options open.
- Angela: I've been in touch with the editors of Cambridge Life. I've also contacted one of their freelance journalists. They think I would be great as a journalist. They think I'm self-motivated, ambitious, a real go-getter!
- Angela's mom: That's great, honey, but you don't have any journalism experience. You could talk to a few more people first.
- Angela: I know. I've been planning to enrol in some courses for a while, and now I see there's a one-year program at Western College.
- Angela's mom: Yes honey, but sometimes you tend to be shy and reserved around people. You're a bit of an introvert, darling. Maybe you should think a bit more about this idea. I wouldn't jump to any major decisions. I see you more as a scientist.
- Angela: I've decided it would be boring to be a scientist. They have to be rational and logical all the time. Journalism sounds like a fascinating career. You get to travel all over the world!
- Angela's mom: Whatever you think, dear.

Let's Practice!

Angela has been thinking about this idea for a long time!

Instructions: Read the sentences. Write the correct answer.

- 1) I've _____ in touch with the editors of Cambridge Life. (be / being / been)
- 2) I've also _____ one of their freelance journalists. (contacted / contacting / contact)
- 3) I've been _____ to be a journalist for ages! (want / wanting / wanted)
- 4) I've _____ it would be boring to be a scientist. (decide / decided / deciding)
- 5) I've been _____ to enroll in some courses for a while. (planning / plan / planned)

Let's Practice!

For Angela, how does the profession of journalist compare to being a scientist?

Instructions: Read the dialogue again. Read the adjectives. Write Scientist or Journalist.

- | | |
|--------------------|--------------------------|
| 1) Extrovert _____ | 7) Rational _____ |
| 2) Ambitious _____ | 8) Boring _____ |
| 3) Introvert _____ | 9) Fascinating _____ |
| 4) Reserved _____ | 10) Self-motivated _____ |
| 5) Shy _____ | 11) Logical _____ |
| 6) Go-getter _____ | |

Extension Activity

Give career counselling advice to your classmates, friends and family members.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- With a partner, make a list of 20 adjectives that describe personality, like shy, reserved, outgoing, etc.
- Talk to 5 different people. Ask each person to identify 4 adjectives on the list that best describe their personality.
- Ask each person if they are an extrovert or an introvert.
- With a partner, discuss different careers or do research online.
- Find one career that goes with the personality of each person. You can choose funny or unusual careers.
- Inform the 5 people about what career you selected for them.
- Explain your choice and give suggestions about what the person should do.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I talk about personality.

☐
☐

I ask questions about personality.

☐
☐

I discuss and read about personality types that go with different careers.

☐
☐

I explain the career choice.

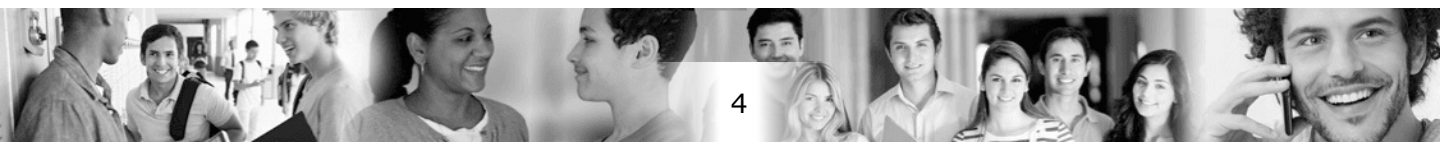

☐
☐

I give suggestions.

☐
☐

Target Words

- it looks promising (expression): expression meaning "I feel positive or optimistic" about something e.g. Well, it's not 100% sure yet, but it looks promising!
- self-motivated (adjective): describes a person who does not need other people to encourage them to do something e.g. They think I'm self-motivated, ambitious, a real go-getter!
- scientist (noun): a person who studies science as a profession
e.g. You have also talked a lot about being a scientist.
- rational (adjective): based on human reason
e.g. Scientists have to be rational all the time.
- logical (adjective): based on logic or reason; not abstract
e.g. A scientist is usually quite logical.
- to jump to a decision (expression): to decide something quickly
e.g. I wouldn't jump to any decisions.
- introvert (noun): a person who does not like to talk to people very much e.g. You're a bit of an introvert. I see you more as a scientist.

Learning Points

Present Perfect Continuous vs. Present Perfect Tenses

You use these tenses to express that an action began in the past and is still going on or has just finished.

We use the Present Perfect tense mainly to express that an action is completed or to emphasize the result.

Forms:

Regular verbs: form of have + base form of verb + -ed

Example: I have worked at the bakery for six years.

Irregular verbs: form of have + past participle of irregular verbs

Example: I have written a number of books in the last two years.

We use the Present Perfect Continuous tense to emphasize the duration or continuous course of an action.

Form:

Form of have + been + base form of verb + -ing

Example: We have been walking for two hours!

Because you are talking about the continuous course of an action, you often use a time marker with Present Perfect Continuous tense, like:

- for two hours
- for a long time
- for ages

Examples:

- I've been in touch with the editors of "Cambridge Life".
- I've decided it would be boring to be a scientist.
- I've been wanting to be a journalist for ages!
- I've been planning to enrol in some courses for a while.

Learning Points

Discussing How to Deal with Problems

When you want to offer advice or give solutions to a problem, you use modals like might, should or could.

These modals can go at the beginning of the sentence, or after a clause starting with "If ...".

The modal is followed by a verb in the base form. You do not use "to".

I would/I'd ...

I wouldn't ...

You could ...

You should ...

Examples:

- I would keep my options open.
- You could talk to a few more people first.
- Maybe you should think a bit more about this idea.

